1. License Grant.

1.1. License. This Agreement, including all Fortinet and third-party firmware and software provided to you with, or incorporated into, Fortinet's Products or Fortinet's documentation (all such firmware, software and documentation being a "Product") and third-party source code contained in Fortinet's Products which is discussed in detail in section 15 below, and the third-party source code contained in Fortinet's Products which is discussed in detail in section 15 below, constitutes an express license from Fortinet, in consideration of the fees, if any, paid by you for the Software, to use the Software solely for your internal business purposes (provided, if (a) agreed by Fortinet in writing, you purchase the Product from Fortinet or its authorized reseller or distributor and paid for such Product. The warranty is only valid for Products which are properly purchased through Fortinet's distribution network, and any support is only available for products properly purchased through authorized Fortinet distributors.

1.2. You acknowledge that no title to the intellectual property in the Software or other Products is transferred to you. You have no right to disclose the Software to others, sell, lease, sublicense or redistribute the Software or other Products, or use the Software or other Products except as authorized in this Agreement. Fortinet, Inc. - EULA v19 – January 2019

2. Proprietary Rights.

2.1. Fortinet, Fortinet®, FortiGate®, and FortiGuard® are registered trademarks of Fortinet, Inc., and other Fortinet names may also be trademarks, service marks or registered trademarks of Fortinet, Inc. and its authorized distributors. You acknowledge that Fortinet is the owner of all intellectual property rights in the software and documentation provided to you by Fortinet, in all forms, including source code, object code, run-time code and compilation, data, and documentation related to the Software. Fortinet's copyright in the Software, the Software Warranty Period shall extend for an additional ninety (90) days after any warranty replacement is delivered by Fortinet. Fortinet's disclosure of your information to provide assistance to law enforcement, governmental agencies and others in the course of their duties is expressly permitted by this Agreement and its successors. In the event of any dispute arising out of this Agreement or the Software, the Software and the related documentation are provided "as is" and without warranty of any kind, whether express or implied, including but not limited to, the implied warranties or conditions of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, or non-infringement. You agree to indemnify, hold harmless, and defend Fortinet from any claims or damages, or expenses, or fees related to the use of the Software.
This License applies to any program or other work which contains a notice placed by the copyright holder saying it may be distributed under the terms of this General Public License. The "Program", below, refers to any such program or work, and a "copy" means a part or whole of the Program (irrespective of how it is presented).

1. You may copy and distribute verbatim copies of the Program's source code as you receive it, in any medium, provided that you conspicuously and appropriately publish on each copy an appropriate copyright notice; keep intact all the notices that refer to this License and to the absence of any warranty; and give any other recipients of the Program a copy of this License along with the Program.

2. You may modify your copy or copies of the Program or any portion of it, thus forming a work based on the Program, and copy and distribute the modifications or resulting work in this manner under either of the following conditions:

   a) The modified work must itself be a software library.

   b) You must cause the modified work to be distributed under these terms so that anyone who receives copies of it can, at your option, reproduce and distribute verbatim copies of all complete source code for the modified work under these terms (and license versions of these terms which apply to any part thereof) in any medium and by such means as you choose.

3. You may offer or distribute a work based on the Program (a "derivative work"), on a volun-unteer basis, under the conditions of Sections 1 and 2 above, provided that you also offer original source code of the derivative work under the terms of this License, as described by Sections 4 and 5 above (the "License terms for derivative works").

4. Special exceptions to the conditions of this License may be made to permit the use of the Program or the Library in combination with other software (defined as a "closed-source distribution"), under conditions agreed to in writing by all the copyright holders of the Program or library and the recipients of a copy of the closed-source distribution.

5. Source code for a work means all the source code for all modules it contains, plus any associated interface definition files, plus the scripts used to control compilation and installation of the executable. However, source code distributed as an executable is not protected by this definition.

6. "Binary computer program" means complete source code for the executable computer program in machine-readable form, including the source code for any library function or routine used as part of the executable.

7. Licenses for a "work that uses the Library" may be granted under the terms of this License to the extent that the Library includes substantial portions of the normally distributed (in either source or binary form) with the major components (compiler, kernel, and so on) of the operating system on which the executable runs, unless that component itself accompanies the executable.

8. "Object code" means any non-sourced form of the Library or any work based on the Library, including object files, executables and libraries that contain one or more of the components listed in Sections 1 through 7.

9. "Larger works" means works containing the Library as a component and the Library and the work were covered by the terms of this License.

10. "Linking" means combining or coupling the Library (or a portion thereof) with other parts, either static or dynamic, to form a program.

11. "License holder" means the copyright holder and/or other holder of any copyright for the Library (under multiple copyrights, the " License holders").

12. "Standard version" means the most recent officially released version as determined by the License holders and/or the copyright holder in the manner they control.

13. "Subsequent version" means any version of the work released under this License by the License holders or a successor licensor, or by the author or any party authorized to distribute the work under this License by the License holders.

14. "Modified version" means either a subsequent version or a derivative work. The term "Modified version" also refers to any work that you distribute under the terms of this License.

15. "Consequent DAMAGES arising out of the use of the Library (including but not limited to) loss of data, loss of revenue, loss of income, loss of business, loss of profits or savings or other economic consequences, is not covered by this License.  Rather the limitation or exclusion of these consequences or damages is a fundamental difference between applying the applicable law and applying this License.  No warranty is provided of the free software and such warranty disclaimer cannot be invalidated by facts that the user changed the state that changes of definitions files in the License will not necessarily be able to recombine the application to use the modified definitions.

b) Use a suitable shared library mechanism for linking with the Library.  A suitable mechanism is one that (1) uses at run time a copy of the Library, but (2) does not link to the Library itself, so that the work can be loaded without the Library (in static and dynamic forms), and (3) does not involve a proprietary or otherwise controlled interface that limits the use and modifications of the Library.  The Library may be distributed under a different name; the original license, if any, must also be preserved.

c) Accompany the work with a written offer, valid for at least three years, to give any third party, for a charge no more than your cost of physically performing source distribution, a complete machine-readable copy of the source code, to the Library along with the written offer to provide the source code.  You must maintain ordinary machine-readable form of running the Program is not restricted, and the output from the Program is covered only if its contents constitute a work covered by this License.  However, the program itself or the output does not normally print such an announcement, your work is not required to print an announcement.

These requirements apply to the modified work as a whole.  If identifiable sections of that work are not derived from the Library, and if such sections are not otherwise covered, they are not considered part of the work.

d) If a facility in the modified Library refers to a function or a table of data to be supplied by an application program that uses the Library, other than as an argument passed when the facility is invoked, then you must make a good faith effort to ensure that, in the event the application does not supply such function or table, the facility still operates, and performs other parts of its purpose reasonably.

g) You must cause the whole of the work to be licensed at no charge to all third parties under the terms of this License.

a) The modified work must itself be a software library.

b) You must cause the files modified to carry prominent notices stating that you changed the files and the date of any change.

c) You must cause the whole of the work to be licensed at no charge to all third parties under the terms of this License.

a) You may offer and distribute a work that uses the Library under its own terms and license restrictions, if you also include a copy of this License along with the work.

b) You may offer and distribute a work that uses the Library under its own terms and license restrictions, if you also include a copy of this License along with the work.

The license holder has the option of allowing you to use a modified version under the terms of this License, or to copy and distribute the modified version under the terms of any later version of this License (or license incorporated by application of section 15).  You must make sure you know which of these options you may choose.

This License expressly permits modification of the work for your own use and resource engineering for derivative works.  Such modifications must preserve the free software status of all derivative of your free software and such software that you redistribute.

If you distribute modified versions of the Library under the terms of Section 2 above, you must give the recipients the accompanying notice in all copies of the work, or if alternatives are offered, choose one of the above methods.  You must also require them to accept the terms of these License terms for derivative works.  This means that you cannot permit modification of the work for others by parties other than you, the original licensor to copy, distribute or modify the Program subject to these terms and conditions.  You may not impose any other conditions on the modified work.

This License expressly permits modification of the work for your own use and resource engineering for derivative works.  Such modifications must preserve the free software status of all derivative of your free software and such software that you redistribute.
